Introduction

Natalie's House is a project of APECA, which mobilizes people and resources in the fight against sexual exploitation and abuse.

Named after singer Natalie Grant, APECA's eight-bed home will soon offer a safe haven for girls (under the age of 18) recovering from sexual trauma due to exploitation and abuse.

The girls will receive shelter, food and clothing. In addition, they will be offered an extensive recovery program including equine therapy, life skills, recreational outings and educational strategies to assist them in making the transition to a normal, healthy life.

Education will be geared toward helping students reach their full potential.

EDUCATION

An academic assessment will be completed upon admission to Natalie's House. Then residents will be enrolled in a rigorous academic program that uses student textbooks and computer assignments.

Teachers will be available on-site to provide individualized support. Student progress will be monitored on an ongoing basis.
